

With four sittings per day, the Beach Volleyball was the most used seating of The Games.

LONDON 2012 OLYMPICS

Horse Guard's Parade in central London played host to the popular Beach Volleyball at the 2012 Summer Olympics. More than 15,000 BOX Seat 901 models were installed in the compact space, making it the largest ever capacity venue for Olympic Beach Volleyball.

The venue housed more than four sittings per day, seating over 500,000 people throughout the event, making it the most used seating of the 2012 London Olympics.

